What to expect

- Parking: Small roadside parking on Sixth Line where the main Trail exits the forest. The BTC lists two new spots on Sixth Line (about 5 and 3 cars); cars must be completely off the pavement to be legally parked. Silver Creek parking can fill on weekends from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and there are no washrooms.
- New trails: The Sixth Line (480 m) and Beeney Creek (820 m) side trails are part of the July 2026 Silver Creek reconfiguration, which moved the main Trail onto a more natural route and took about 1.2 km of trail off Sixth Line. No published descriptions of these two side trails were found yet.
- Terrain: Credit Valley Conservation describes Silver Creek trails as having steep slopes, rocks and roots, and rates the Bruce Trail here strenuous, with long steep climbs and wooden bridges. Expect some of that even on this short loop.
- Older maps: After the July 2026 Silver Creek reconfiguration, the Duff Pit, Trafalgar and Great Esker side trails no longer appear under those names; parts became main Trail or were renamed. Follow the current blazes and the guide's directions.

Distances and junctions are computed from the Bruce Trail Conservancy's trail data (Bruce County GIS). Left/right is calculated from the trail geometry. Use it as a guide, follow the blazes, and check the Conservancy's trail-change notices before you go. Dogs must be leashed everywhere on the Bruce Trail. Trail descriptions draw on a Bruce Trail Conservancy trail-change notice and Credit Valley Conservation; details on these new side trails were thin.
